

SOLARIZATION PLASTIC MULCH SOURCES

Prepared by James J. Stapleton
University of California

The following is a list of sources of plastic mulch advertised as being manufactured for soil solarization usage. This alphabetical list is prepared for information only – it is not necessarily complete and does not address considerations of product quality, availability, or price. The University of California does not endorse any of the sources or products, nor one source or product over another. Price of plastic mulch can vary greatly, depending on supplier, specifications, quantity ordered, etc. Potential users are advised to shop around for price and test materials for suitability prior to placing a large order.
